Agenda:

- Share final instructional plans for in-person and share family communication and timeline before it goes live
 - Alysia has grade level assignments and classes
 - No virtual class changes for 3-5
 - 3rd grade will have one teacher coming back in person, with someone going in to take their homeroom class
 - 4th grade will have 4 teachers splitting kids across rotations
 - They will split half time between virtual and in person
 - 5th grade will have two co-teachers coming in, leaving all virtual classes intact
 - Two CARES classes will be staffed by Janney Plus staff
 - Kids from 3-5
 - Unsure of how the structure will shake out, but not two combined 3-5 classes
 - Janney is bringing back the most children in the cluster

- Final slide deck will go out to parents in a few hours
- Think through in-person opportunities for students who do not get an in-person spot; possibility of family survey
 - How can we provide face to face time for teachers and students?
 - Do we have to wait for term 4 to make any changes?
 - Likely yes, it would be too difficult to make changes mid advisory
 - What is Caroline Laub's(Janney+) survey asking? To consider before crafting a new survey
 - Can we make changes to student support center offerings mid advisory?
 - Yes! Needs only one week of notice
- Ward 3 Dems and Ed Net are hosting Mayor Bowser next week
 - Sounds like she is going to answer questions about education
 - What is going on with the vaccine roll out to teachers and school staff?
 - What is the status of standardized assessments for this year?
 - What will summer school look like?
